FEAR AND THE NAVAL POLICY

To the Editor:

What is it? It is the universal weakness of all men, the universal fear. In the human family it is either a physical or mental manifestation, sometimes it is combined in the same individual. Fear is the force that controls the world. It is the force that controls the actions of at least two-thirds of the world's population, from the cradle to the grave. Some children are afraid of the dark; some are afraid of the water; some are afraid of the fire; some are afraid of the police; some are afraid of the law; some are afraid of the government. Fear is the force that controls the world. It is the force that controls the actions of at least two-thirds of the world's population, from the cradle to the grave.

The position of vice-principal of the Lacombe Public School made vacant by the resignation of Mr. Reid, has been filled by the appointment of Mr. H. Mc-Nee, M.A., a graduate of Edinburgh University.

James Lundy and wife, Messrs.
Finlay and Sangster, of the Mountain House, were visitors in Lacombe this week. They report things booming in the new town on the Brazeau Railway communication is at present interrupted on account of washouts on the line.

While we are writing this item it has stopped raining, and appearances would indicate that the dry spell has set in. The weather, however, is subject to change without notice, and we don't guarantee about the weather is dry at time of reading.

The crowd at Gull Lake is increasing every day. At present more than 1,000 holiday-ers are located out there.

The weather of the past few days has been most temperate. Despite the hot sun, the Sunday crowd was as large as ever.

Twenty-eight visitors from the north having arrived on the evening train, to spend the

V. E. Reid, B.A., for the past two years vice-principal of the Lacombe public and high school, has received the appointment of principal of the Alexander Taylor School, Edmonton.

Mr. Reid, during his connection with the Lacombe school, proved himself to be a teacher of exceptional ability, and the parents of Lacombe's rising generation are sorry to see him go.

During the storm on Thursday last, lightning struck the electric light wires leading to B. F. Bailey's residence, and caused considerable damage to the house.

Miss Bailey, who was sitting on a chair in an upper room was knocked off the chair, but was uninjured.

The wiring of the house was badly wrecked. B. F. says he likes to see things going his way, but draws the line at lightning in the future.

The road to the lake during the recent wet weather was worse than even the oldest timber can remember seeing it. The fresh grading fell in an easy victim to the heavy rains, and made travel most impossible. Today the road is hard but very rough, but the grader goes to work this week, and with fair weather will soon be in fair shape.

McDavin, or whatever name he goes by, the promoter of the Wetaskiwin Automobile Factory has left Alberta. He was before the courts for some weeks at Edmonton, and each time he was discharged was arrested again. He was without a charge against him for a few minutes last week and took advantage of the rest to get across the line. The Wetaskiwin Automobile Factory will not be built this year, and we have about concluded that the big Lacombe Iron Foundry and Steel Works will have to wait until McDavin gets back to Alberta.

The Excursions to Experimental Farm

About 1,000 people, from all parts of Alberta, took advantage of the excursion to the Lacombe Experimental Farm on Monday. The visitors began to arrive at 11 o'clock, and by noon the three special trains had unloaded their passengers at the depot. After lunch the crowd wended its way to the farm, and spent several hours looking over this most interesting and instructive place. There were no speakers arranged for this year, but Capt. Hutton, Supt. Fairhead, and a staff of assistants, took the visitors in charge, and showed them over the farm, explaining various methods of cultivation en route.

The farm, now looked better than on Monday, the growth of the various grains causing amusement among the visitors from the southern part of the province.

The arrangements might have been better for the reception of the visitors. The visitors from the east line were under the impression that a train to take them home in the evening had been arranged for, but on their arrival here found that such was not the case. In consequence of this oversight, about seventy visitors from the east only remained in town until the evening train back to Lacombe, and did not visit the farm at all. Others from the east who were unaware that there was no special, were compelled to remain here until one o'clock, Tuesday, when put them to considerable expense.

The visitors from the Weta-skiwin branch also found that they had to pay full fare both ways, no arrangement for excursion rates having been made apparently.

It is unfortunate that the Department had not enlisted the co-operation of the Lacombe Council and Agricultural Society and Board of Trade in this excursion, which would have insured that the entertainment of the visitors would have been looked after.

The excursion was arranged by the Provincial Department of Agriculture, and was under the charge of Messrs. Craig and Lewis, of that Department.

For soreness of the muscles, whether induced by violent exercise or injury, there is nothing better than Chamberlain's Liniment. This liniment also relieves rheumatic pains. For sale by the Lacombe Drug Co.

Grandpa's Graham

It is just what many people have been wanting. There is nothing new about it. It is the genuine old fashioned graham. "The kind Grandpa used to use." It is simply good milling which respects without anything taken from it or added to it. In using "Grandpa's Graham" for baking one part of it is used with one or two parts of white flour, according to taste, and a more delicious, sweet bread cannot be obtained. For porridge it must be stirred in only when the water is boiling vigorously, and then 15 or 20 minutes of slow boiling improves it.

Reasons for its Use.

First—it is in itself a balanced ration.

Second—the porridge properly made and served with cream is surprisingly delicious.

Third—it is very nutritious.

Fourth—a liberal use of Grandpa's porridge and Grandpa's bread is a sure cure for constipation and all ailments arising therefrom.

Fifth—in view of its delicious, nutritious and medicinal qualities, it is decidedly economical.

The present generation by the falsity of demanding nice, white flour, regardless of ingredients and process of making is suffic-ing many ill. Those who will place wholesome means ahead of looks and will eat the diet of our grand parents will obtain their strength and health with the consequent happiness.

Try the "Grandpa's Graham" and prove for yourself its merits.

For sale in most stores. Many factured by E. S. Stanley, Lacombe.

"A Disgrace to Lacombe"

Editor Western Globe:

In your last issue there appeared a letter dealing with the above subject and signed "Gull Lake Resident."

In reply I would like to state that the Local Improvement Districts Ordinance does not give the council or councillors the power or authority to deal with nuisances of any description. The Gull Lake Resident is aware of a provincial law which deals with such matters. Then let him to his duty as a citizen and invoke the aid of that law of which he seems so cognizant and lay his complaint and full particulars of the same before the Provincial Health Officer, whose duty it is to look after such matters. By the way, the unworthy council and councillors have acted a better part than the Gull Lake Resident for about a year ago the Council of L. I. D. No. 20 W. 4, sent a resolution to the Provincial Health Department to have this nuisance abated, but, up to the present, for some reason, unknown, no action seems to have been taken.

Yours truly,
J. J. KASHA,
Councillor, Div. 2,
L. I. D. No. 4.

That "Disgrace to Lacombe"

To the Editor:

Dear Sir:—As a yearly visitor to your splendid summer resort—Gull Lake—I emphatically endorse the remarks of "A Gull Lake Resident," about the slaughter house on the edge of your town, which appeared in your last issue. I have been coming down to Lacombe for the past seven years and for that length of time have noted with surprise that this part to the health of your town has been allowed to exist. I venture to say that in no other town in Alberta would this disgraceful state of affairs have been allowed to exist for a minute, and I am sure that no other town in Alberta has to suffer a nuisance of this nature. The drive past this place enough to turn a person against the most beautiful place in the world, and I know of occasions when the stench has made ladies quite ill. It has always been a disgrace to the health of the province, and the work your citizens should do, and cause this nuisance to be removed. Your council should, make that and that immediate action is taken. At present this place is a breeding place for flies, which we all know are a splendid means of communicating loathsome diseases, and the citizens of Lacombe in their own interests should set up such a howl that the Provincial authorities will have to take notice.

Another Gull Lake Resident.

The Slaughter House

Mr. J. J. Kasha, the representative of this portion of the Local Improvement District takes exception to being blamed for the slaughter house not being removed from its present location on the west front of the town. Mr. Kasha and the council of the L. I. D. have repeatedly referred the matter to the Provincial Health Authorities, but to date no action has been taken. Now however, the members of the district council are determined to make things move and will make it warm for the health authorities until they take action. A strong resolution to the government, asking for immediate action was passed at the district meeting on Saturday last, and has been forwarded to the department. This will be followed by a resolution from the Lacombe Town Council, and a strong report on the subject from Lacombe's Medical Health Officer. Patience has ceased to be a virtue in this case.

Successful Sales

Auctioneer Damon conducted a most successful sale at the farm of J. H. Bockland on Tuesday last. The day was a bad one, a heavy rain falling and the roads were in bad shape, but despite these drawbacks there was a good attendance. Bidding was brisk and everything was sold at good prices. The sale realized about $3,000.

On Saturday the same gentleman conducted a sale for the Godfrey and drove out a good crowd. The prices were high on everything offered.

Dance at Clive

The price of admission, including supper, has been fixed at $1 per couple, and a big crowd is expected.

He is proprietor of the Vulcan Corporation, Limited and the McEwen Construction Company, the former capitalised at $500,000,000 for the purpose of making automobiles and the latter for the purpose of building houses.

Death of Mrs. Jas. Trimble

Mrs. James Trimble, mother of H. M. Trimble and Mrs. F. W. Locke, of Lacombe, died at Hortonburg, Alberta, on Wednesday last. Mrs. Trimble who until a couple of weeks ago had been visiting her daughter here, went to Hortonburg on a visit to another daughter, Mrs. Latham. She expected to return to Lacombe early in September. On Wednesday last she was taken suddenly ill and passed away after one day's illness. The funeral took place on Sunday at Red Deer.

The Roads

In travelling through the country one cannot but observe the dangerous condition of some of the culverts. There has been a lot of rain, and the roads are in a very bad condition, which cannot be remedied while the wet weather continues, but the question arises, in the event of a heavy rain, putting their feet down through some of the broken planks and getting their legs broken, who would have to pay the damage or would the owner sustain the loss. If the council had to pay the damage surely it is the duty of the council to see that the district is not laid in for a bill of damages by putting the culverts in a passable condition. If the owner is liable then it is at his own risk if he should attempt to cross any of these traps. This is a matter the local improvement districts should look into and thereby keep peace in the community.

A TRAVELLER.

Live Stock Coming To Alberta

On Saturday last a somewhat notable shipment of live stock, comprising 15 cars of young cattle and two cars of hogs, left Toronto for Alberta. These animals are the property of Mr. P. Butler, of Ingersoll, Ont., one of the best known and most capable men in the live stock trade, who in response to numerous requests from Alberta farmers, and after thoroughly staking up the situation, has taken on this means of endeavouring to meet the demand for live stock, which is constantly growing more insistent in this and the surrounding districts.

The cattle, which number something over 600, consist principally of young grade females of the dairy breeds. Two hundred and thirty of these are two-year-olds, of which a very considerable proportion are due to calves this fall. There are also 150 yearling heifers of good dairy strains, while the remainder, some 25 in number, are choice pure-bred Holsteins and shorthorns, almost equally divided as to sex. The hogs, which are mostly Yorkshires and Berkshires, are said to be of excellent quality. Mr. Butler is thoroughly familiar with Western conditions, and knows exactly what our farmers want, and as these animals have been carefully selected by himself, in person, there is every reason to hope that this importation will be a most welcome and valuable addition to the live stock wealth of the province.

During the summer months mothers of young children should watch for any unusual looseness of the bowels. When given prompt attention at this time serious trouble may be avoided. Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy can always be depended upon. For sale by the Lacombe Drug Co.

I will have a closing out sale about the middle of September; will sell everything, including 75 horses and my household furniture. Sale bills will be out in about two weeks. 2 snaps on houses left—Baley.

"This is the Range I Use—the GURNEY OXFORD"

When a range is recommended by one woman to another, it has met the final test.

The staunchest friends of the Gurney-Oxford Range are those women who have experience with it day in and day out. They know how dependable it is; they know that no other range gives such constant and unvarying satisfaction, not simply to management and economy, but in cooking results.

The Gurney-Oxford works constantly for its owner's peace of mind, and it supplements her efforts to make each meal one of absolute satisfaction.

Every woman who has had experience with the Gurney Economizer cannot help telling her friends the satisfaction of being able to regulate the fire by turning up or down one small lever. She tells about the flues that make and keep the oven always evenly heated, but above all she is enthusiastic about the golden brown biscuits, the light delicious bread and pastry, the roasts and ro-widens to the queen's taste, that her Gurney-Oxford turns out.

The Gurney-Oxford owes its popularity to the recommendation of those for whom it works.

THE drawing was made from a photograph of the root-cellar with which D. A. Purdy, of Lumsden, Sask., won a cash prize in last year's contest. In that contest there were 36 prizes. There will be three times as many prizes (108) in the 1912 FARMERS' PRIZE CONTEST.

THAT you will have three times as many chances of winning a cash prize. You do not have to use any certain amount of Canada Cement in your concrete. There are no "strings" to this offer. There are twelve prizes for each Province (three of $50, three of $25, three of $15, and three of $10) and you compete only with other farmers in your own Province and not with those all over Canada.

It makes no difference whether you have new used cement. Many of last year's winners had not used it until they entered the contest. It is absolutely free, and you are under no obligation to buy "Canada" Cement or to do anything else for us.

TRANS-PERSIAN RAILWAY

The question of the Trans-Persian railway is assuming a prominent place in British political discussion. The project is taking definite shape. An organization known as the Society d'Etudes, with its headquarters in Paris, has been formed from representatives of three nationalities, Great Britain, Russia and France, and after some preliminary difficulties an arrangement has been arrived at providing for absolute equality of control between the British, Russian and French promoters of the scheme. The president of the organization is Mr. Reinhard, a French diplomatist of standing and there are two vice-presidents, Sir William Garstin and M. Homiakoff, the ex-president of the Russian Duma.

The proposed railway would unite the Russian railway system with the British Indian railway system. A great deal of opposition to the project is evidenced in Great Britain. Sir Edward Grey is attacked, in this connection, for allowing his desire to strengthen the friendly relations between Great Britain and Russia to lead him too far. British military opinion, as expressed notably by the military correspondent of the London Times, is dubious not only as to the wisdom of the project, but also as to the wisdom of the policy of the Liberal party, which regards Sir Edward Grey's whole course of action as a foreign minister, with increasing disapproval, in accordance with military opinion.

The Times goes so far in support of its military correspondent as to say that "the public will insist on the fullest consultation of military opinion, in India as well as here, before committing itself to support of the line," but adds that, pending further information, it is strongly inclined to agree with the broad arguments in favor of the proposed railway. The military railway communication between Europe and India cannot be indefinitely postponed, we shall do well to take the question in hand at once, when we can solve it, by friendly agreement, in the manner best suited to our military needs.

The nation which speaks for the wing of the Liberal party opposed to Sir Edward Grey's foreign policy, says of the proposed railway that "the military railway communication between Europe and India cannot be indefinitely postponed, we shall do well to take the question in hand at once, when we can solve it, by friendly agreement, in the manner best suited to our military needs."

The railway delivers over to Russia a strategic advantage, the enormous advantage for which she has been toiling and straining for more than seventy years, while we have devoted thousands of lives and immense expenditure to keep that advantage out of her reach. To preserve Russia's approach to any point within striking reach of our India frontiers has been for at least seventy-five years. The key stone of not only our Indian, but of our imperial policy. For this we have waged desperate campaigns in Afghanistan, and penetrated the unknown mountains of Tibet. In fear of this approach, we have fought and fortified up and down that north-west frontier from Chitral and the Khyber down to the sea; we have concentrated the strength of our British and Indian armies in those north-western provinces; we have thrown out a station by occupying a third of Baluchistan as British territory, and fixing our advance position, by fronting Quetta at Chaman and Nushki, so as to hold Kandahar when the moment of peril comes.

"Little by little we have made out that frontier what we believed to be the strongest line of defence in the world. With the aid of the Hindoo Koosh, the Sulaiman, and other vast mountain ranges, combined with the wild tribesmen of Afghanistan and the great deserts of South-east Persia and Baluchistan (for, as Napoleon said, there is no such defence as a desert), we probably had a right to consider our position impregnable. And now, suddenly we are called upon to abandon all we have done, to stultify the unquestioned policy of three generations, and without a word of protest or opposition—without even knowledge of what is going on—to yield a road that outflanks our defenses from end to end."

The Nation's summing up of the whole matter is this: "We shall have opened the easiest way to a power that is not the most stable of friends or the most scrupulous of foes. At the end of a disastrous war we could hardly surrender on terms more humiliating. And all for what? To fill the pockets of a few financiers? Or in the hope that, if the worst comes to the worst with us in Europe, we shall secure the active support of the Power which has already renounced us as Potentate?"

It is interesting that the Nation, of all London journals, should be found thus strenuously harking back to the days when "the bear that walks like a man" was regarded as the ever-suspicious danger to British interests. The Times does not give any sign of thinking that there is any occasion for alarm or alarm, and it questions the whole question, in a matter of fact way, remarking that there is need of fuller information as to the probable cost of the railway, its prospects in the matter of freight, and the extent to which it may be expected to give on the total capital charge.

TRANSPLANTING THE POLE

Most of us think our climate warm enough these days. Yet there are those who think it would be of advantage to Canada if our climate were made still better. A plan was proposed to put a flap on the Straits of Belle Isle to keep the icebergs and northern currents out and make Melville and Tadoussac coasts to cool us. A magazine with a large circulation, "Popular Mechanics," devotes one of its principal articles to the subject of turning the world around a little so as to get Canada further from the north pole. This proposal it finds to be not altogether a wild dream, but a feasible if over gigantic task. The methods which it suggests and illustrates of accomplishing it, is to build a track around the world as is feasible on the meridian of Winnipeg and then start running a train continuously around the world on this track. The writer explains that the track would not have to go over the north pole, as it would make little difference, if at that high latitude it were diverted through Alaska to where the said meridian enters Siberia and then run south to the Indian Ocean. Here he proposes that the train should be put on a ship and taken to the most southern navigable latitude. Rounding the Southern Continent in this manner it would return north again on the hundredth meridian, discharging its train at Acapulco, Mexico, from which point it would run on its wheels northward. In this way the writer says the train would push the earth continually pushing the earth in the opposite direction to which the train travelled, and if it weighed three thousand tons and ran at the rate of a thousand miles a day it would turn the earth so that Canada would be one degree further south by the time the train had been running continuously for a hundred thousand years.

moving forward, it would push the earth in the opposite direction true, the result which he suggests—attaining would be vastly superior to the result by setting a string of steamers like the "Titanic" each of which would be twenty times heavier than the supposed train, steaming around in a large circle in the Pacific, complete with the Winnipeg meridian. In this way the length of time he estimates it would take to make the turn would be one thousand years as great with less cost. The whole basis of the writer's argument is, however, entirely false. A train in motion forward is not pushing the world in the opposite direction. If a train which had been constructed so as to make it frictionless were started forward at a rate of twenty miles an hour, it would go on running until the resistance of the atmosphere brought it to rest. A train, therefore only pushes the tracks on which it runs, backward, with the same force that it pushes the air forward. As the air is just as much a part of our world as is the ground, the result is that the steadily moving train on both would have no effect whatever in turning the world around. Supposing, however, that the writer was not mistaken in his dynamics, does anyone want the world turned round? For Canadians have any less desire that our long summer days should be hotter and we would not like our snow to be of the slushy kind that gives no pleasure in making snow. There is little chance, however, that could the world be so turned it would be turned our way. The amount of land surface in the northern hemisphere on the other side of the globe is so much greater than it is on this side, and the population so much larger that if there was any pulling and hauling to be done, it would be the Russian empire that would be brought out of the grip of the north pole being hauled to the same extent nearer us.

National Statistics

How easy it is to underestimate statistics. There was no doubt a feeling of general satisfaction when our neighbors were reminded a few days ago that "America is the richest nation." Judge Parker, speaking at Baltimore, referred to "this great country which boasts of a wealth of $130,000,000,000, as against $80,000,000,000 for Great Britain and Ireland, $60,000,000,000 for France, and $30,000,000,000 for Germany."

The way to estimate the prosperity of nations is to show the wealth of the separate individuals—how much each one has. Where this is impossible, the average wealth per head of the whole population should be shown. Even then, the grand total may be concentrated into the hands of a few.

Thus Great Britain and Ireland have a population of 35 millions, giving to the United Kingdom a per capita wealth of $1,733.

France, with a population of 39 millions, would possess a wealth per head of $1,090. Germany has 65 millions of people, and would therefore have a wealth of $1,046 per capita.

The United States, having 92 millions, would have a wealth of $1,113 per head. The chief of the Bureau of Statistics, in 1904 gave the per capita wealth at $1,310.

On this showing Great Britain is the richest, France next, the States third, and Germany fourth. Popular fancy, of course, concludes too quickly when figures are quoted.

But we judge that the above figures are only approximate. It is difficult to estimate comparative wealth. Many elements must be considered.

One interesting sidelight is afforded by the annual expenditure, the budget of nations. The ordinary net expenditure of the United States for 1910 was $659,705,391. The general war fund absorbed $155,911,706; the navy took $123,175,717; pensions aggregated $160,506,416; and interest on the public debt required $21,242,978. For 1911, the receipts were $701,272,377. About one-half of the revenue is derived from customs duties—the tariff taxes—which in 1910 yielded $353,653,455.

The British budget will be interesting to those who wish to make comparisons. Revenue of the United Kingdom for the fiscal year ended March 31, 1912, was $307,000,001, the expenditure $268,259,729, leaving a surplus of $38,740,272.

Less than one-fourth of the British revenue is derived from customs duties—less than one-fifth of the income tax yielding about 33 per cent, more than the import taxes. The total revenue for 1912-13 is estimated at $910,200,961.

The expenditures for the fiscal year 1911-12 were $814,814,814.

As the Twig is Bent

Heredit is something which attacks a boy just when his father is getting ready to swear off.

It is a dangerous article to carry around in the cupboard as it is liable to break out at any moment and try to set a fire to the whole lot.

Some fathers try to bend the twig into a close imitation of a sixpenny snail, and when they fail the neighbors point back about four generations and dig up some member of the family who developed tobacco heart at the age of 96.

The average twig would grow straighter if it had fewer holes at the breakfast table and less rope after supper.

You can bring up a boy in a straight jacket and blinders, but force never made anything but a fathead or a tramp.

The man who substitutes beet sugar for granulated doesn't be surprised if his son roasts the pink sheet at morning prayers.

There is nothing better than the old-fashioned religion which makes 2000 pounds out of a ton of coal.

A boy can be hammered over the head with moral precepts until his knees buckle together, but a decent square life on the part of the "old man" will outweigh them all.

A red collar shingle, applied at frequent intervals in an enthusiastic tone of voice, is a better antidote for hereditary piety which never explodes except on Sunday.

The twig which is bent over a pool table three-fourths of the time is always too busy to hook up with $2.50 a day.

Self-respect will keep a boy's distaste from slipping before the profession on demountable rims.

If more people would open a reform school in the wood shed, both the curfew and the juvenile court would have to go out of business.

Sunny Alberta again. The weather seems settled for a time and roads are getting in better shape.

We are sorry that we missed the announcement of the wedding of Mr. Carl Bjornson to Miss Ida Isaacson, of Everts, Alta., at the Methodist church here on Saturday afternoon, July 20th. The groom is a young and popular blacksmith with a new shop and residence at Bentley and the bride a popular young lady of the Everts district. A long and happy married life is the wish of their many friends.

A Coverdale has been tendered the contract of carrying the mails daily between Lacombe and Bentley, each way. This is just doubling his previous contract and puts out the other temporary man. Mr. Coverdale has been carrying this mail for so many years that it seems that he is a part of the system that couldn't be dispensed with. His work has always been very satisfactory.

Mrs. Velma Palmer, was seriously injured in a runaway accident about a week ago, in which her ankle was badly sprained, but is improving as well as could be expected at time of writing.

Meane, Palmer & McPherson have dissolved partnership by mutual consent and will do their real estate business separately from this date, except to complete deals that are now on.

Great arrangements are being made for the grand Lodge Picnic at Brownlow's Landing, on Wednesday of this week and the weather permitting a large crowd is expected.

The B.A. of V. dance on Friday night last was very well attended, and a very enjoyable time was spent.

A change is to be made in the Bentley post office in the near future, a new postmaster being appointed.

Born to Mr. & Mrs. Claude Wright, on Wednesday, July 24th, a son.

Johnman Brothers are still busy with a four-horse outfit cutting down the road on their ranch west of Wittenburg.

The roads being in such fine condition, last week our general merchants, Lee Bros., took advantage by hauling a six-horse load of freight for their store, where they are doing a great amount of good, both for themselves and the trading public.

Quite a few around here are cutting their timothy early so as to allow time for breaking up and seeding to winter wheat.

The Medicine Valley correspondent mentioned no name, but after a lot of measuring of tracks, we found out that it was one of our Wittenburg young men who fought the big grizzly bear, which, upon closer inspection proved to be Withers' dog.

Mr. Slater finished a fine job of breaking for G. N. Taylor last week and is now busy at home.

Well, between the logs and the high water we could see several of our bridges in the Medicine going south. We can easily get more water, but now that all the best logs are gone where will be get more bridge be with several loads of fat the roads in bad shape but good prices for pork.

Do you know that the Medicine Valley Creamery is running this summer? What was good for the settlers two years ago should not be too bad now. At that time it was thought to be just the right thing, both to better the dairymen's pocket and to attract settlers. It has accomplished this, for cheques as high as $85 per month were issued to patrons, and many a homesteader located near the creamery. Taking it for granted that everybody was satisfied two years ago, it seems strange that the people who did so much towards the creamery to get it going, both with money and not air, now turn a cold shoulder to the proposition this year and try to fight the creamery to a finish. The fact of the matter is that Mr. Light, who has taken the business over for this season, is deserving of a whole lot more encouragement than he is getting. All he wants is for you to give him a chance to start business, and five cents a pound for putting your produce on the market is surely reasonable. This vicinity is well settled, and the creamery has a territory of 30 miles north and south, and 28 east and west, yet only 10 patrons. Do you know it is a steady flow of cream cheques coming in that builds up a district as fast as anything else?

Farmers, please give this more attention. Patronize a good, clean business in your neigh-hood. Shun peddlers, who have not so much as procured a license to do business, and we will all find ourselves richer and wiser at the end of the year.
